

HFC Wellness Programs

Healthy Cells Nutritional Program

The Healthy Living Cellular Nutrition Program is designed to provide a balanced spectrum of beneficial nutrients and antioxidants to help compensate for poor nutrition and to counteract oxidative stress. A basic program through to a completely customizable option for more focused nutritional concerns is available.

Healthy Living Weight Management Programs

The innovative, science-based 5 Day Jumpstart program offers a way to “push your body’s RESET button” to get it back on track through balanced nutrition. It is a cleanse program that doesn’t leave you starving or slow down your metabolism. The choice after the Jump start is simple - use the Transform for additional healthy weight loss or the Maintenance Program which focuses on keeping your body balanced.

Anti Aging Healthy Skin Program

Skin health is important today because we now know that absorption of chemicals and other harmful products can occur through the skin. You need to care for your skin to defend against the daily effects of free radicals on your skin. The HFC skin health program include products that effectively refine, replenish and support the skin at the cellular level.

A Note From The Doctor

Dear Patient,

I understand how important it is to feel secure about your health decisions. I know how much it means to you to share only the finest products, best programs and the latest scientific health and wellness information. I chose Chiropractor Wellness Concierge and USANA Health Sciences to take Harbor Family Chiropractics' health and wellness programs to the next level for a couple of important reasons.

First, I found they have the same commitment and desire about overall health and wellness as I do.

Second, their mission is to educate, share knowledge and information about health and wellness, healthy lifestyles and proper nutrition. This information is science-based, not just the latest health fad or headline.

Third, and most importantly, the products and programs I recommend must be of the highest quality. USANA Health Sciences has researched, tested and provides scientific support for product chosen to be part of my wellness programs. You will understand more about what you are putting in your body and why it makes a health difference. This will allow you to become an even more active and informed participant in your own wellness while traveling on the road to optimal health.

I trust that you will find the products and programs something you can get behind as well. It is all about you, your health and wellness and making the best choices for the greatest health impact today and in the future.
